“Dr Khan rejects the shallow identity politics which assume that British Muslims must either assimilate to ‘western’ secular norms or react fanatically against them. Instead, he reminds us that all great religions demand an intelligent application of their principles to everyday life, and demonstrates how this should be done, in a series of thoughtful articles which not only offer informed judgements but encourage readers to think for themselves.” Dr Michael Sherborne, author of HG Wells: Another Kind of Life (2010).

“Mamnun[s] ... ability to question received wisdom, analyse complex issues succinctly and offer possible solutions to the challenges facing British Muslims is refreshing and admirable.” Muhammad Mojum Khan F.R.A.S., author of The Muslim 100 (2008), The Muslim Heritage of Bengal (2013) and Great Muslims of the West (2017).

“This collection of thoughts, observations and meditations provides a welcome perspective to the ongoing crystallisation of religiously-inspired thinking in Britain [...] it is in the spirit of communal deliberation and intellectual enquiry that this anthology constructively demonstrates how we might proceed.” Shaykh Mohammed Nizami, British-born Islamic scholar and political theorist.

“...May this work inspire positive action in those who [...] long for a return to godliness, guidance and harmony.” Iqbal Nasim, CEO, National Zakat Foundation.

Mamnun Khan completed his undergraduate degree at Imperial College London and a PhD from Cambridge University. In recent years, Mamnun has advised a number of UK organisations on projects and strategy, as well as founding grassroots initiatives. His passion is to bring critical insight and thought leadership in advocating contextualised Islam and making the British Muslim experience God-centred.
